

Giving Life to Marriages

What does it cost for an appointment?

Living Well does not charge a set fee for our appointment times. It costs about $100/hour to keep our doors open.

Living Well is a nonprofit organization. Everything paid towards appointments is a tax-deductible donation and will be receipted. Many times, people will also need to pay for an assessment, notebook, or other materials (necessary for appointments).

Who pays for the appointment?

We believe everyone is capable of paying something towards their appointments. If someone is committed to the process, they are willing to invest time and money.

We do not base our appointment availability on a person's ability to pay.

We also have donors who believe in what we do and support the ministry.

Do you accept insurance?

Living Well does not file for insurance. We are not psychologists, psychiatrists, or therapists.

We give guidance for marriage issues and managing money from a Biblical perspective.

How do we pay?

You may write a check, payable to Living Well, or use cash and give it to us during your appointment time. You may mail a check to the address above. Or you may use a credit card online on our website.

How long does it take?

We meet for one hour appointments. We prefer to see people weekly in the beginning of the process. The number of sessions required depends on the person/couple's openness to change.

If the person/couple will follow through with the assignments that they are given, they can usually see a difference within three months, depending on their circumstances and need.

However, it usually requires more time to learn and apply all of what is necessary for a healthy marriage and/or for sound money management.
